

Soil-Net.com

Cranfield
UNIVERSITY

Free web-based educational resource for soils

The Soil-Net web project presents a schools educational resource to better inform the education of young people about soil. Visit <http://www.soil-net.com>

Everyone is affected by soil - as one of the three major natural resources, alongside air and water, soil is vital to the existence of the planet. It's right there, just under our feet!

The Soil-Net Website is available for free, helping Primary and Secondary school students (Key Stages 1-4) learn about the importance of soils and the environment.

▼ Contact

Soil-Net Office, NSRI
Cranfield University
Cranfield, Bedfordshire
MK43 0AL, UK

Soil-Net@cranfield.ac.uk
<http://www.soil-net.com>

The Soil-Net project is led by Cranfield University's National Soil Resources Institute (NSRI), together with the Norwich School of Art and Design (NSAD), sponsored by Defra

